Professional Experience

2003-09 User Experience designer. MOTOROLA. London, UK.

I entered Motorola as an interactive designer focusing UIQ and Motorola proprietary software. I conceptualized and created visual interfaces for new products, services and applications.

From layout to iconography design. I moved on working with small teams creating application and feature flows for future concepts. These concepts were materialized through user centred research and testing.

I was also responsible for product visual customization in the Europe region, working with all the main operators helping them expand their features and applications on Motorola products.

2001-2003 Senior creative designer. FILA. Boston, USA.

Responsible for creation and update of visual flow of Fila.com, I also developed user interface and graphic solutions for their online retail stores and promotional events.

1999-2001 Senior graphic designer. SAPIENT Cambridge, USA.

Developed creative user interface, visual concepts and on-line solutions. As part of a team I worked from visual concepts to interactive completion of major web sites from online banking (Credit Suisse) to sportswear (Fila.com).

1999 Graphic designer. COREY MCPHERSON NASH. Boston, USA.

From corporate identity to web solutions, I worked on a wide range of graphic design projects for various clients, from emerging online sites (rock.com) to major corporations (GTE)

1999 Graphic designer. BIG BLUE DOT. Boston, USA.

In a company focused on children's entertainment design, I created motion graphics, logos and packaging for various clients as Nickelodeon, Zany Brainy, and Fox Family.

1998 Graphic designer. LITTLE, BROWN AND COMPANY. Boston, USA.

Children's book department. Editorial layout design.

1996 Intern at ARGONAUTES (Graphic design agency) Paris, France.

Design of the new ticket for the national lottery, various illustrations and graphic design for magazines and brochures.

1996 Intern at 16-36 PRODUCTIONS AUDIO-VISUELLES, Geneva, Switzerland.

Re-design of the graphic identity for the company, filming assistant, trailers for the company productions, flyers and brochures
